NEW TIRE RATIONING RE- STRICTIONS

Mr. Charles J. Monkhouse, Chairman of the Medina War Price and Rationing Board, announced today
that new rationing restrictions have tightened the list of eligibles for new tires, tubes and recapping. "This revision was an obvious necessity," he said, "and it will help to relieve the critical rubber tire situation."

The new amendment to the tire rationing regulations, Mr. Monk-house said, make it plain that only vehicles engaged in service essential directly to the war effort or to the public health and safety are to be eligible. This will cut off from eligibility for tires all privately operated trucks carrying alcoholic beverages,
soft drinks and similar beverages, tobacco products, confections, candy
flowers, toys, novelties, jewelry, furs
radios, phonographs, musical instruments or other luxury goods, unless the transportation of such things is only incidental to the main service
performed by the vehicle.

Also dropped from the eligibility List A are private carriers providing transportation for incidental maintenance services such as the cleaning
of office buildings, or for repairing
portable household effects, or providing materials or services solely for landscaping or beautification of any construction project or establishment.

"The new amendment to the regulation gives our board the responsibility of sifting applications with this yardstick: Does that truck or vehicle
contribute directly to the war effort,
or to the public health and safety,"
Mr. Monkhouse said. We know that the vehicles working on war projects must be served first. All others will have to wait."

munity Home Demonstration Club

County Home Demonstration Agent,
present.

The business meeting was turned over to Miss Hambleton, and she explained about the State Convention
which is to be held in Fort Worth, August 18-20. Mrs. Milton Lein-weber was appointed a candidate for this convention. Miss Hambleton
also gave an interesting demonstration and talk on "Around the Dining gust 26th.

THREE FIRE ALARMS

Fire originating from an unknown
cause in the kitchen at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Boehle of Quihi
about noon Monday caused damage to the extent of about $75.00 before it was extinguished. An alarm turned in to the Hondo Volunteer Fire Company caused the booster truck
to make a quick run to the scene,
but prompt action of those on the ground had the flames extinguished
when the fire-boys arrived.

Within several hours time, two fire alarms Thursday morning sent
the fire-boys hurrying to their stations. The first, about 2 A. M., turned out to be a false alarm. The second, about eight o'clock in the morning, was to fight flames which enveloped the Lopez house in the northeast part of town.

ARMY EMERGENCY RELIEF SEC- TION ORGANIZED AT HONDO FIELD

Formation of a military board to administer Army Emergency Relief
in this area was announced today by Colonel Linus D. Frederick,
commanding officer of the AAF Navigation School here. The board to be known as the Army Emergency Relief Section, will be available at the field at all times for interview with Army personnel and dependents of men in the Service
who would like assistance, Colonel Frederick said.

Members of the section are: Colonel Frederick, Lt. Col. W. R. Gin-
der, Lt. Col. Ode Evans, Capt. B.
W. Shenlin, and Capt. W. K. St.
Claire.

"It is imperative that we are immediately furnished a list of the names and addresses of all dependents—even though they do not need assistance—who have men overseas
or stationed at distant posts in the United States," Colonel Frederick
said. "One function of the new section will be to inform all dependents in this area of the aids and facilities offered by Army Emergency Relief." Names and addresses should be mailed to the Army Emergency Relief Section in care of Colonel Frederick.

"Establishments of Army Emergency Relief is one of the most important morale steps, that has been taken because it promises each member of the Army that his dependents will be provided for regardless of where he may be," Colonel Frederick declared. "We want all dependents
in towns and cities in this area to feel free to call on us for any assistance, and we promise them that their problems will be kept confidential."

Services of the section were enumerated as follows:

(1) Outright grant of money to families in great need.

(2) Loans to help dependents, or Army personnel, through any emergency. No interest will be charged.

(3) Relief in kind—that is, food
fuel, medical and dental care, hospitalization, assistance in securing pensions, compensation, insurance
allowments, etc.

(4) Information about any phase
of Army Emergency Relief, and from time to time, when available information about service men who are separated from their dependents.

Army Emergency Relief is a non-military, or private, charitable association incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia. The association has the full cooperation of the Army, and members of its national board of managers include the Under Secretary of War, two Assistant Secretaries of War, one other civilian, and two army officers.

COUNTY MERCHANTS TO FILE PRICES BY AUG. 10

All retail merchants in Medina
County were reminded today by Mr.
Charles J. Monkhouse, chairman of the Medina County War Price and Rationing Board, that they must file with the local board by August 10 a list showing cost-of-living articles and their ceiling prices which the merchant has added to his stock since July 1.

"The filing of such lists by the tenth of each month is made mandatory by General Maximum Price Regulation No. 1," Mr. Monkhouse pointed out. He also called attention to the fact that many retail merchants still have not filed the initial listing of cost-of-living articles and their ceiling prices, which should have been in the hands of the County Board not later than July 1.

"Failure to file that list is a violation of the General Maximum Price Regulation," Mr. Monkhouse said,
"and we have been advised that the State office of Price Administration
staff is now making a field survey to determine how many merchants
have not filed this list."

The results of the survey, he said
are to be turned over to the OPA
compliance and investigation department, for immediate attention.

Any merchant who still has not obtained a copy of the General Maximum Price Regulation, or of Bulletin No. 2—"What Every Retail Merchant Should Know About the GMPR"—can get copies by applying to the office of the Medina County
War Price and Rationing Board,
Hondo, Texas.

Mr. Monkhouse stressed that compliance with Price Control is an essential duty in winning the war "on the home front."

VALDINA FARMS' ROUNDERS WINNER AT ARLINGTON

CHICAGO, Illinois, August 1.—
A cocky little Irish-bred colt named Rounders Saturday turned the tables
on the mighty Whirlaway and won the $25,000 added Arlington Park
handicap by three and one-half lengths.

Whirlaway, whose portion of the added pot was $4000 for second place,
thus upped his record lifetime win
total to $458,336.

Whirlaway just didn't have it
when the chips were down, at the start of the stretch, and the gallant little Rounders sloshed along to make his famous rival look bad as he hustled across the finish line.

The Emerson Woodward colt from the Valdina Farms in Texas, took the lion's share of the purse, $22,000,
while Staretor took third place money
of $2000.

Rounders is by Colorado Kid-Short Run and was one of several refugees
purchased by Woodward in Ireland.
The colt started five times in Ireland
and won each event.

Whirlaway carried 130 pounds
while Rounders toted only 103 over the sloppy mile and one-quarter.

Backers of Rounders were returned $12.40 for each $2 bet, while Whirlaway's place money gave up
$2.40 for $2. There were no show mutuels.

Mr. Woodward's Valdina Farms
are located in Medina and Uvalde
counties, Texas, a short distance
northwest of Hondo.

SALVAGE YOUR GREASE DRIVE UNDER WAY

As part of the effort of "winning the war on the home front", housewives are being enlisted in the drive
to save kitchen grease in the latest scrap salvage campaign.

On Thursday of this week, Mr.
A. F. Baird, of Nornhauser & Co., of San Antonio, official dealers for the grease, was a Hondo visitor and outlined plans of the program to
Mrs. R. C. Rath, emergency secretary for the Hondo Chamber of Commerce. He told her that only grease saved by housewives in their kitchens was desired in this drive.

The grease must be clean, and strained while it is hot to rid it of sediment. Housewives should then take the grease to local markets where they will receive 4c a pound for it.
Every two weeks the dealer will collect the grease from the markets
where it should be kept in 48- or 100-lb. cans with tops. It is not necessary to keep the fats in a refrigerator, Mr. Baird said.

The grease thus salvaged is to be used by the government to make glycerine, Mrs. Rath was informed.
She urges all the housewives in the Hondo territory to get behind the drive.

LIONS HEAR STATE SECRETARY

Mr. Roy Keeton, State Secretary of Lions International, was a guest of the Hondo Lions Club at a luncheon at 12:30 Wednesday, August 5, at the Oasis Cafe. Mr. Keeton gave an interesting account of his trip to the Lions International convention last week in Toronto, Canada.

The Hondo Lions will meet every Wednesday at 1 o'clock from now
on at the Oasis Cafe, it was announced.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

They hatched up a good name
for our female army—WAAC—
wack for short. But, mind you, it is far from me to be taking a pot-shot at the lady army. There will be some gal in that outfit who will pack a punch. Anyway, any kind of fighting is hard on the eyes. I crave to do none of any kind, even wordy.
If some lady general should happen to read this column, I hope
she will say, Oh, that guy, he is just trying to be funny—don't shoot him. I am not worrying about any of the others—anybody like a private, or a corporal, or something. I feel safe on that angle because there are no corporals or privates—just generals.

But joking aside, I am in a quandary about our Lady Army.
What will the gals do? Say for instance they are at the front.
They are in a fox-hole—and a field mouse shows up. Which way will the army move—retreat or go forward? But I guess it is maybe alright, or will be.

Yours with the low down,

JOE SERRA.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER

If you have a boy serving his country in the Army or the Navy,
whose life may depend upon the delivery of supplies to the four corners
of the earth, read this:

In Portland, Oregon, where conditions are similar to those in hundreds of other American cities, a free-born American citizen answered the call for men to man a new freighter going into the transport service. He had waited around for some days before the ship was ready, and when it came time to sign up was about out of money. He then found that before he could go on board as a seaman he had to pay the labor union about $15.00. He didn't have the money. Fortunately he found a friend who loaned it to him.

Words are inadequate to express
one's opinion of such a condition.
Here is a situation where an American citizen can't get a job on an American ship carrying American-made supplies to American armed forces that are fighting to preserve
this nation, until he pays tribute to private labor bosses. If the closed shop can tie our country up in this manner, what personal liberty have we to boast about?

In a free country, a man should have the right to join a labor union
if he so desires. Certainly no private organization should have the power to deny a man the right to work in a war effort, until that man can first pay it a cash tribute. How long the rank and file of American citizens will put up with such a condition remains to be seen.—Industrial News Review.

THE DEBT OF LIDICE

"Massacre is no new departure for the Axis. The mass slaughter by bombing at defenseless Rotterdam
the wholesale rape of Nanking, rank high in the calendar of crime. The Poles and the Yugoslavs have similarly terrible scores to settle. And yet what happened to the little town of Lidice, in Czechoslovakia, is in a way more shocking than those large-scale blood-lettings.

"Because the Nazis suspected that inhabitants of Lidice had harbored
the assassins of Reinhard Heydrich,
it was announced by the Berlin radio
that the following punishment was carried out:

"All male grownups of the town
were shot . . .

"The women were placed in a concentration camp . . .

"The children were entrusted to appropriate educational institutions . . .

"The township was leveled to the ground and the name of the community extinguished."

"No trial. No effort to distinguish between innocent and guilty. A whole community obliterated, literally wiped off the face of the map.
Not in the heat of battle; not by un-disciplined troops exploiting a victory; but by coldly deliberate official order.

"The enslaved people of Europe
are paying a ghastly price for their devotion to the cause of freedom, a devotion that must puzzle as well as

A FRIEND'S FACE

By Marian Payne Cooper

A friend's face is a lantern.
No place in all the world;
No hidden mountain crevice;
No race, no flag unfurled,
But knows its welcome twinkle;
Its constant trusted beam
That smiles on rich and poor alike;
An undimmed golden stream.

OL' DOC CUPID

By Marian Payne Cooper

Ol' Doc gave Raven her head after he hit the ridge trail that lead direct from the Jackson logging camp to the one over on the Sawtooth ridge. He needed his head clear for thinking. That's why he had taken the horse instead of the flivver. There was thinking to be done of a caliber Ol' Doc had never tested before.

He'd sort of missed out on romance himself; being a bachelor and up till now Sidney, his young niece, had never caused him a bit of concern in that direction. So playing Cupid to a busted romance was a little out of his line.

Doc had a mental picture of himself playing Cupid, and the thought brought laughter at which Raven lunged forward in surprise. "Steady Ol' girl!" He reined in the black beauty, reassuring her with a pat. "I hain't quite got down to a ribbon yet! Though I do say this errand I'm on looks just about as silly."

Well, he reckoned he'd make a stab at being the President himself if it would take that queer white look off Sidney's face—Sidney, gamest little mite this side of Big Bear mountain. It took an awful lot to knock Sidney out for the count. And you could almost see crying going on inside her, quiet like. Whatever it was, Doc meant to fix it.

Now why did Tim Martin run away from Sidney? Wearily his mind went back to the problem again. Sidney believed what Tim had told her, of course. That he didn't have any right to ask a girl to marry him without a penny to his name, especially when that girl had plenty in her own name. To Doc that excuse sounded as full of holes as last winter's stripped woods.

There was something back of it all. Something they hadn't guessed at.

He'd always liked that boy, somehow. Though he had to admit there was something exasperating about his closeness. As much as to say he wasn't anybody's business and he'd thank you to leave him alone. Which Doc had been most obliging about. Until Sidney stepped into the picture.

Why, the boy had been a fool about her. Floored the first time he saw her. Well, there was only one thing to do. No, two things. Find out the real reason he'd quit the Jackson outfit and then figure out what to do about it. Beat him to the draw, so to speak.

Raven took the last rise of the Sawtooth ridge a little after noon. A bit of professional jealousy gripped Doc at the sight of the camp. Here was an outfit! Machined; powerfully manned. Oh, well, he'd come looking for Walters, not on a sight-seeing tour.

He rode slowly along, combing the groups of men with keen eyes. But his eyes kept snagging on the equipment. Finally, as he rode into the main clearing where the sheds and the office were he sat back in the saddle and allowed himself to admire the place though he felt like a traitor, doing it. "By crackly! A neat place alright, alright." "Well, Raven," he said as he swung out of the saddle. "We'll look up the boss and find out a thing or two."

A big, square shouldered young man was coming down the main steps of the office as Ol' Doc reached them. He was counting what appeared to be his pay. "Can I find the boss in there, young man?" Doc asked.

The young man looked up, hesitated, then nodded. "Sure, go right in."

Doc walked in though he found a chair quick when he did so. Tim Walters was the boss.

When Doc got a grip on his skitterish voice he observed, "Kinda sudden, wasn't it?"

Tim looked up, winced at what he saw. "Doc!"

Doc reminded him slowly. "Two, three days ago you was a logger over at the Jackson camp. Now you're big boss here."

Tim looked like he was doing some fast thinking. "It'd better be good," Doc warned him.

Tim looked for a long minute into the honest gaze of Ol' Doc. Then he sighed. "Well, I suppose you might as well know. I own this place."

"On your wages?" Doc gripped his knees with his two hands and stared.

It belonged to my mother. She married again when my father died. A man with money. They invested in logging camps. This one is to be mine providing..."

Doc guessed what was coming. "Go on," he said.

"Providing I make it such a success that it runs all the rest of the camps on Big Bear out of business. That means you and Sidney, too."

He took his head in his hands. "Doc, what can I do. I can't marry Sidney without a cent and I can't marry her and keep this...What'll I do?"

Doc slumped in his chair. He'd come to patch things up but here was a mouthful. He set his teeth into it grimly, however, and turned to the distraught Tim.

"See here," he began carefully. "When I started out loggin' I had twenty cents to my name."

Tim looked up wearily. "Well?"

"Well, I've rung that up to two hundred. With that and a part interest in the best little logging camp on Big Bear; barrin' none," he looked about him grimly; disparagingly.

"But, I thought," Tim gasped. "I thought you and Sidney, well..."

"You thought we are rich, eh?" Doc supplied the words. "We are rich, by golly. In good hard muscle and grit, which is more'n you can say! You'll be rich all right but you won't know the satisfaction of a good hard fight for it, or the pleasure of sending logs spinnin' off down-stream to the mill, knowin' it was your sweat that sent 'em there."

But Tim was laughing. So hard he didn't hear a word of it. "Doc I'm going back to loggin' and get my camp the hard way. It'll take more than a rich man's camp to run us out of business. He whacked Doc on the back and laughed some more. Then he sobered. "Do you suppose Sidney'll want me, after I ran out on her like that?"

"You can ask her." Doc grinned and heaved a sigh of relief. The battle was won! But first he had to call up the Jackson camp and have them shares he'd bought for Sidney, some eight thousand dollars worth, transferred to his name for a while. After all, a man's entitled to his pride, now ain't he?

"Where's a telephone?"

TWILIGHT REVERIE

At evening near the close of day,
When nature dons her bright array,
I love to turn from toil and care,
And gaze upon the landscape fair.

When sunset tints bedeck the sky,
And not a cloud is seen on high,
O what a joy steals o'er the heart,
When thoughts divine the Soul impart.

Ah, could I in this tranquil hour,
Recall the years with magic power,
And live them in the sunset glow,
Where sweetest moments come and go.

O happy hours that bring release,
When burdens of the day shall cease,
How sweet to think of goneby days,
While in the sunset's lingering rays.

And with the breezes soft and low,
We hear the songs of long ago,
Like strains of sweetest music given,
To waft our thoughts to peace and Heaven.

—JESSIE MAHAFFEY.

IN FIELDS TOO LONELY TO NAME

Song no lips will awaken
Lies by the path I came Through hedges the winds have shaken
In fields too lonely to name.

Red hills the cattle have trampled
Kneel down to a sheltered cove
Whose dwellers once builded and sampled
The meat of labor and love.

They passed, and the sage has covered
All but the humpy track
Of the broad-leaved corn that hovered
Over the meadow's back.

Logs of the house lie rotten
Under the sheeplike's flame,
And sill and hearth forgotten
In fields too lonely to name.

RETURN

"My heritage? These emerald seas
Of corn
And all the wealth of gold the wheat-crop yields?"

Forgive me if I turn my head in scorn!
Unwelcome legacy of fertile fields!
The maze of patterned avenues was limned
Upon a mind too small to comprehend

That this periphery was interlarded
To link my years in comfort, to the end.

But I returned again to look upon What still was mine, now alien to
To find the very soul of it was gone,
And life, itself, had seemed to leave the soil

Now dust and ashes, victim of the drouth,
But oh, the taste was sweet within my mouth!

RELUCTANT EXPANSION

The little school house where I teach
Has stood for many years;
The logs and stones were carried far
By sturdy pioneers

Whose vision scanned a future day
Where happy childhood feet
Could cross the threshold of the door
To wisdom's august seat.

And there within the small class room
Where jolly girls and boys
Have gathered, met, and shared alike
Their sorrows and their joys;

The antique clock is wearing out,
The walls are scratched and marred;
The floors indented deep by nails
Where shoes were shuffled hard.

And though I love a modern place
I felt no joy at all,
When word went around the other day
"We're moving in the fall."

AMERICAN-OWNED SHORTHORN SIRE 1941 SCOTTISH CHAMP

The grand champion Shorthorn bull at the 1941 Perth Show and Sale at Perth, Scotland, Feb. 11 and 12, is Calrossie Souvenir, red roan son of the 1939 Perth grand champion, the white Calrossie Mercury, now in the United States at the head of the herd of Thos. E. Wilson's Edellyn Farms, Wilson, Ill. Mr. Wilson is chairman of the board of directors of the meat packing firm of Wilson & Co., Chicago.

The champion sold at 7150 guineas or a little over $7,000 to Cluny Castle, famous Scotch Shorthorn cattle firm. This is the highest price in 3 years to be paid for the Perth champion.

According to Perth Officials, this young 1941 grand champion was the result of a mating made before Mr. Wilson's bull was shipped to this country.

Of the champion, James Biggar, British livestock judge and exporter, said: "The bull by Calrossie Mercury is outstanding in that he has more substance and breed character than

Senator W. Lee O'Daniel has telegraphed the South Texas Chamber of Commerce that "Government officials have finally recognized the possibility and feasibility of manufacturing synthetic rubber from grain." The Texas senator suggested that the regional organization take the matter up with other organizations or individuals in this section. Executive Vice President Ray Leeman of the South Texas Chamber any of the others in this show." Mr. Biggar is a son of Walter Biggar, 11 times judge of steers at the Chicago International Live Stock Exposition.

H. J. Gramlich, secretary of the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association, Chicago, in commenting on the new Perth winner, said that in order to obtain his sire, Mr. Wilson had to pay some $8,500. "That seemed a high price at the time," affirmed Gramlich, "but Calrossie Mercury's worth as a breeding bull was indicated today when his son also became grand champion at Perth, greatest show of its kind in Britain."

"It is to the credit of American stockmen when sires, either owned or produced here, perform so outstandingly all over the world. The war is inducing British stockmen to part with animals they wouldn't sell otherwise. It's tough for those in war-stricken countries, but this situation is making America headquarters for the best in all breeds of livestock."

"It is a tribute to British grit that they continue to hold outstanding livestock shows and the like in spite of war and bombs."

responded to O'Daniel's wire by advising that the matter would be called to the attention of those interested. South Texas already is interested in the rubber industry in that this section is both producing the petroleum ingredient for synthetic and experimentally growing guayule with its natural rubber content.

Do Workers Really Want To Share In Management?

James B. Carey
Secretary, C.I.O.

Whiting Williams
Consultant and Author

MR. CAREY OPENS: Workers do not want to take over management. They desire only that management recognize that workers have more to offer than brawn and sweat. They have intelligent understanding of the machines and equipment with which they are in daily contact.

Management does not have a monopoly on brains. Big business must recognize that this is democracy, not autocracy or dictatorship. Management in its infinite wisdom has imposed company unions on workers but that failed and today any fair-minded executive will admit that collective bargaining must be substituted for business autocracy.

Workers' organizational talents must not go to waste. Can many employers deny that labor's knowledge of organization technique are most definitely applicable to democratic functioning of co-operative labor-management committees? Workers know production because they are the producers. It is logical that management should look to its workers' labor unions for improvements in production technique.

Senator Truman's Committee investigating the progress of national defense has pointed out that industry has absolutely failed to utilize its full productive resources. Management alone has failed to do the job. The workers' unused human talent on production problems is lying dormant. It can and must be called upon if we are to out-produce the Axis powers.

MR. WILLIAMS CHALLENGES: Certainly workers have more to offer than brawn and sweat and every wise manager recognizes this by recruiting his managerial family from the most capable workers. Although I believe in collective bargaining and I believe that forward-looking labor unions can help management out-produce the Axis, such agreement doesn't prove that workers really desire to carry complicated managerial responsibility. Nor does it prove that labor unions can carry a worthwhile share of the principal managerial function; obtaining a continuing equilibrium between the always-competing yet always-common interest of employees, managers, owners, customers, and public.

MR. CAREY REPLIES: Management is a victim of its own propaganda. A little more cooperation with labor would not only improve labor management relations but would further improve production.

Labor unions are ready and willing to cooperate with management through labor-management production committees to "out-produce" the Axis.

To say otherwise, as Mr. Williams seems to, is belounging the issue with false accusations. Labor is capable of assuming its full share of responsibility in all joint endeavorment with management on the production front. This is self-evident to anyone who will take the time to examine the success of the joint labor management committees already established.

MR. WILLIAMS OPENS: It is my observation that rank-and-file workers, organized and unorganized, have no wish to function in the double capacity of wage-earners while carrying, at the same time, serious responsibility for the enterprise's management.

All wage-earners have great respect for their chief means of increasing their skill, judgment and intelligence—namely, their own personal experience. This respect for experience makes them very conscious of its limitations.

In the field of his regular work the worker's experience gives him so valuable a viewpoint that every wise manager utilizes it by various methods of cooperation. By "promoting from within," also he regularly recruits his managerial group from those wage-earners whose widening experience fits them for managerial responsibility. This is why American management leads the world. Also, why we have never approached the "Working Class" ideology which a few of Labor's leaders now unwisely seek to impose.

All this is why the wage-earner has no desire to do what some, not many, of his leaders have lately done—namely, demand a place in management, not as the result of individual experience and fitness but, instead, simply as a union, group or class prerogative and "right."

MR. CAREY CHALLENGES: Mr. Williams obviously does not understand how unions function. Labor leaders speak for the rank and file and with their approval.

Workers not only approve of labor-management committees but their whole-hearted cooperation on existing committees has resulted in astounding production records in steel, copper and many munitions.

Labor's desire to cooperate is not "working class" ideology, but an attempt to democratize the autocratic functions of "pre-machine-age" executives. Workers are proving that their knowledge, if used, will continue to benefit plant efficiency and production.

This is evident to any intelligent executive who has cooperated with unions on labor-management committees.

MR. WILLIAMS REPLIES: If Mr. Carey means that workers desire only to share in the production phase of management through "Nelson-type" plant councils, I see no ground for argument. As elsewhere stated, I believe such cooperation can prove altogether helpful.

But the question under discussion was raised not by the "Nelson-plan," but instead by the plans of Messrs. Murray and Reuther, who apparently are demanding that the unions be given a share in the entire field of management.

Mr. Carey has certainly not proved that the workers support this labor demand. Indeed, he confirms my belief that they do not.

QUIHI NOTES

And let them gather all the food of those good years . . . and that food shall be for store against the seven years of famine . . . that the land perish not through the famine. Gen. 41:35,36.

Joseph is in conference with the king of Egypt. Fresh from the odious prison walls, he is favored with a rare distinction. The dreams of the king he has fully interpreted and explained, and no one dared to interrupt or contradict him. Somehow he has attained full confidence and 'has them, sovereign and servants, eating out of his hand. Not a word goes to waste in that royal gathering where, ordinarily, only the monarch gets full attention. Though unsolicited, Joseph had added a few suggestions of political economy for that impending famine. Is he getting top-heavy, arrogant talking about matters far beyond his horizon? Heads swell fast, sometimes, when they bask in the sunshine of title and glory and position.

Not this young man. He is a problem in a particular sense. The cruel experiences of his life did not get him under, did not sour and embitter his disposition, his outlook on life, did not stifle his mental growth. In that prison atmosphere where uncounted thousands slowly rot into physical or mental decay, or meditate every moment on a new chapter of their criminal career after their release, Joseph might have fallen under the quotation of Melville, "While ponderous planets of unwaning woe revolve round me, deep down and deep inland there I still bathe me in eternal mildness of joy. Ye, it was more than the mere buoyancy and flexibility of youth that kept him from being clawed by the dire spectre of melancholia."

There was no prison library, no display of news digests and periodicals in those days to keep the mind in growth and on the alert for the progress of civilization outside of those walls. Neither was there a schedule of useful trades and professions, as today, where a prisoner might prepare himself, according to gift and adaptability, for a fitting and helpful place in human society after his dismissal. Apparently, despite the lack of these developing agencies, Joseph did not vegetate in mental idleness.

He did not pose as a silent martyr. Difficulties and forced restraints often show the true metal of man. David composed his best psalms in times of "distress." Homer, though totally blind, wrote his immortal epics, the Iliad and the Odyssey. Milton, under similar handicap, gave the world his unique Paradise Lost and Paradise Regained. Under economic pressure Shakespeare penned his mighty dramas, and under political turmoil Dante produced his Divine Comedy, whereas Bunyan blessed the spiritual world with his profound allegory. The Pilgrim's Progress, while fanatics had him confined to prison. Did Joseph busy himself with problems of economy?

Could he foresee the boom of the seven years of plenty? The vast investments, wild speculations, fat contracts, the humming factories, lusty spending (even a Mrs. Lincoln is reputed to have spent $300 for gloves and $5000 for a shawl), extravagant merriment with crowded race-tracks, gambling dens, liquor taverns, banquet halls, brothels, concessions and calaboses, the general laxity with shrieks and revelry rending the midnight air, and the ideals of honesty godfearing, and decency thrown to the dogs?

Did he anticipate the fury of the famine creeping in? The dead smoke-stacks, the long rows of vacant stores, the convulsive tramp of the unemployed, the barren fields the hungry bread-lines, the starving widows and children, disease stalking unabated, passions unleashed, rumbling sedition, the mighty chorus yelling, self-determination, arbitration, cooperation, confiscation, annihilation of capital (and the echo laughing them to scorn), with crime in aggressive, desperate mood, bankruptcy in money, morals and religion, and the hectic, morbid crooning of high and low, of the bloated wisecracks and the listless rabble alike "We don't know where we're going but we're on our way?" The time when many a one "the moment it begins to get dark, as soon as it is night, he goes out and howls over the grave of God." Does Joseph see all this, and more, beforehand?

Only a few rude and elementary but very fundamental suggestions he makes to combat the ominous future. But it's more than the voice of Joseph, the prisoner. And his God always knows what He is about. He never fails!

The death of Mrs. John Saathoff has brought sadness to a number of families in our flock. Our sincere sympathies!

Clayton John Saathoff were the names selected by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Saathoff for their baby-boy who was brought to Holy Baptism last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Leinweber took over the sponsorship. We commend the child to God's precious care.

And on the same Sunday another event took place. Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Saathoff were saddened by the arrival of a little boy in their family. True-cause for joy for all concerned, and we join with the rejoicing.

The sick-list is somewhat on the increase: Mrs. Milton Balzen has been down for several days. So has little Howard Saathoff, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Saathoff. Mrs. Geo. Reitzer and Mrs. Alfred Schulte are still at the hospital, but improving nicely. Wilfred Schulte went through the ordeal of a tonsilectomy. Mrs. Anton Grell took to the mountains of Fredericksburg for recuperation. We trust that all is well before long!

The Misses Elsie and Shirl Boehle were received into active membership of our congregation. Welcome! This is the proper time for all the young confirmed people to line up with the busy church workers. We hope their fine example induces many others to follow in the step.

For a once in our recollection, Hondo Fire engine clanked out our Quihi premises, rousing a peaceful and quiet settlement with its siren. The roof of the Boehle house had caught fire, causing not a little excitement to the lonely occupants of the house at that time. Mr. and Mrs. F. Borchers' fire was quenched before it had good start and many willing workers were there to tidy up the place. Thanks are certainly due to the and to the fire department!

Announcements for August 9: Sunday school and Bible class at 11 A. M. English service at 11 A. M. Various reasons, we go back to a former time schedule. The Sunday school teachers meet after the service. Luther League program 8:45 P. M. A cordial invitation all!

Washington, D. C., August 5.—While maintaining a tentative annual level of twelve billion dollars as its goal, the Treasury Department today fixed the August quota for the sale of War Bonds at $815,000,000 as shown by the accompanying map by states.

In lowering the quota from a billion dollars in July to $815,000,000 in August, the Treasury has given recognition to certain factors which may be expected to result in variations in sales over the 12-month period, such as the seasonal character of farm income.

These factors have been taken into account in determining each state's share for the national quota for August and will be given consideration in fixing quotas for subsequent months.

In addition to the state quotas as set out in the map there is a federal payroll allotment quota of $9,750,000 and territorial quotas as follows: Alaska, $750,000; Canal Zone, $213,000; Hawaii, $4,200,000; Puerto Rico, $440,000 and the Virgin Islands, $17,000.

Section 4. The provisions of this ordinance regulating the movement, parking and standing of vehicles shall not apply to fire department or peace officer vehicles, or to ambulances, while the operator of such vehicle is operating the same in an emergency in the necessary performance of public duties. This exemption shall not, however, protect the driver of any such vehicle from the consequences of a reckless disregard for the safety of others, or of the property of others.

Section 5. The City Marshal or any peace officer authorized by the City Council, is hereby given authority to tow or cause to be towed to the city pound or other place designated as a pound any vehicle which is parked in violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 6. The City Council shall, by resolution, determine and designate the character or type of all official traffic signs and signals, and shall designate the location where the same shall be installed. The City Marshal, or other person specially authorized, shall place, maintain, and cause to be maintained all signs and signals required.

Section 7. It shall be unlawful for any operator or driver of any motor vehicle or vehicle of any kind to disobey the instruction of any official traffic sign or signal placed in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance, unless otherwise directed by an officer.

Section 8. Whenever traffic at an intersection is controlled by traffic control signals exhibiting colored lights or the words "go", "caution", and "stop", said lights and terms shall indicate as follows: green or "go"—traffic facing the signal may proceed, except vehicular traffic shall yield the right of way to pedestrians and vehicles lawfully within a crosswalk or the intersection at the time such signal was exhibited. Yellow or "caution"—when shown alone following the green or "go", traffic facing the signal shall stop before entering the nearest crosswalk at the intersection unless so close to the intersection that a stop cannot be made in safety. Red or "stop"—traffic facing the signal shall stop before entering the nearest crosswalk at the intersection or at such other point as may be designated and remain standing until green or "go" is shown alone. The operator of a vehicle intending to turn to the left at an intersection where the traffic is controlled by traffic signals or by a peace officer shall proceed to make such left turn with proper care to avoid accident and only upon the green or "go" signal, unless otherwise directed by an officer.

Section 9. It shall be unlawful for any person to place or to display upon or in view of any street any unofficial sign, signal or device which purports to be an official traffic sign or signal or which attempts to direct the movement of traffic or which hides from view or interferes with the effectiveness of any official sign or signal. Every such prohibited sign, signal or device is hereby declared to be a public nuisance and the City Marshal or other person authorized by the City Council is hereby empowered to remove the same, or cause it to be removed without notice.

Section 10. It shall be unlawful for any person to willfully deface, injure, move, obstruct, or interfere with any official traffic sign or signal.

Section 11. It shall be unlawful for the operator of a vehicle to stop, stand or park such vehicle in any of the following places, except when necessary to avoid conflict with other traffic or in compliance with the directions of an officer or traffic control sign or signal:

a) in the center of the street;

b) within a street intersection;

c) on a crosswalk;

d) within twenty-five (25) feet from the intersection of curb lines,

and shall remain standing there until such fire apparatus has passed. This shall not apply to members of the fire department or peace officers. It shall be unlawful for the operator of any vehicle to follow any fire apparatus in response to a fire alarm closer than three hundred feet from the rear of such apparatus, except members of the fire department or peace officers.

Section 19. It shall be unlawful to operate any motor vehicle within the corporate limits of the City of Hondo at a rate of speed in excess of 25 miles per hour.

Section 20. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance or any rule or regulation made in compliance therewith shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not to exceed one hundred Dollars.

Section 21. No vehicle shall be operated or allowed to remain upon any street in such manner as to form an unreasonable obstruction of the traffic thereon.

Section 22. If any vehicle is found upon any roadway in violation of any provision in this ordinance regulating the stopping, standing, or parking of vehicles and the identity of the operator cannot be determined, the owner, or person in whose name such vehicle is registered, shall be held prima facie responsible for such violation.

JESTER OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN FRIDAY NIGHT

Corsicana, Texas, August 4.—Opening his runoff battle for the State Railroad Commission, Beauford Jester will discuss the importance of his campaign in a radio speech to a statewide audience from his home town, Corsicana, at 9:30 p. m., Friday, August 7. The talk will be carried over a fifteen station network.

"Texas oil and transportation are vitally important to our war effort," Mr. Jester said. "Most of the oil that will fly our planes, power our mechanized divisions, and fuel the ships of America and her Allies will come from Texas. There must be no bottlenecks in Texas' oil production and transportation facilities."

"The people of Texas need a war veteran and a fully qualified Railroad Commissioner who will see to it that every industry regulated by the commission can and does function at its maximum in our war effort," Mr. Jester declared.

BEAUFORD JESTER

A native of Corsicana, Jester is a graduate of Texas University and served from 1932 to 1935 as chairman of the university's board of regents. He interrupted his law studies to go overseas in 1917 as an infantry captain in the 90th Division. He saw action in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives. Returning to the law after the Armistice, he completed his studies and has practiced in Corsicana ever since. He has taught a Sunday school class in his Methodist church since 1924, and since 1935 has been a member of the State Advisory Board of the National Youth Administration.

From the San Antonio papers we learn that James J. Rihn, pharmacist's mate, second class, is among six Texans reported missing in action by the Navy Tuesday. Jimmy is the son of Mrs. Joe J. Rihn and the late Mr. Rihn of San Antonio formerly of Hondo. He is a nephew of Mrs. Milton Mecher of Hondo.

Major Manning D. Seil, Public Relations Officer at the Hondo Air Field for the Air Forces of the United States Army, and Major H. G. MacDaniel, Special Service Officer in charge of diversions for the student personnel, were callers at his office Wednesday. They plan to favor the Anvil Herald with news of local import from the Navigation School in the near future.

James R. Duncan starts the campaign for county offices this week for re-election to the office of County Tax Assessor-Collector, the first to announce for county office. Campaigns for County offices in Medina are usually very quiet affairs, with a candidate seldom running in the primaries and all making the race in the general November election. This year will be no exception as no one offered in the July primary. Mr. Duncan was a deputy under the late Lou E. Heath, succeeded him at the first election following Mr. Heath's demise and is now asking the voters for his second term.

Sending in their subscription renewal to the Anvil Herald from Mathis, Texas, Mrs. Henry Mussman inclosed a slip of paper, yellowed from age, which proved to be a subscription receipt made out to her father, the late John Neumann, on June 16, 1896, by the Castroville Printing and Publishing Co., per Haass. That was nearly four years before our purchase of The Anvil at Castroville more than 42 years ago and Mrs. Mussman adds in her letter, "And it has been in our home ever since". We are complimenting Mrs. Mussman with a year's subscription to our Farming Journal for calling this to our attention, and any one producing an older receipt will also receive a similar compliment.

STATIC ELECTRICITY SHOCKS GUARDSMAN

In a letter dated Saturday, August 1, 1942, to his father, H. V. Haas Jr. of Castroville, the following clipping from a Florida paper was enclosed:

Two calamities developed from the late afternoon squall Saturday.—First an army plane, after circling the city many times, finally made a forced landing just before the storm broke.

A Coast Guard air station crew immediately braved the weather to get the landed plane out of the gusty weather.

Howard Haas, member of the crew, was stunned and partially paralyzed when he touched the plane and was knocked to the ground by static electricity which, it was explained, was generated by a bolt of flashing lightning.

Howard is a grandson of Judge and Mrs. H. V. Haas, Sr., and Mrs. George Cameron of Hondo.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

The political grapevine reflects growing concern over war progress—or lack of it—particularly in armed circles. All want more official frankness on developments. Off the record, officials believe real news is more alarming than headlines. Consensus is that politics-as-usual would vanish into thin air if the American people realized the enormity of the war job and demanded action.

Controversies over wage levels farm parity, prices and rationing are inevitable. Wage stabilization which ties up directly with parity must be dealt with at once, as the spectre in inflation looms. The wage situation was brought to a head by the WLB 15 per cent grant but the Administration still shies at wage control. USWA will take the 44 cents and demand similar raises for half a million more steelmen. The Administration wants wage control without the war tag. High officials hope to get Congress to build a wage-fixing board which would grant increases based on living costs. Meantime the farm bloc issues an ultimatum on 100 per cent parity fixation if wages are set.

—WSS—
Farm parity and wage stabilization are, in effect, direct steps toward subsidies which will, in turn call for Government help for war-stricken businesses. These are basic to the development of the campaign to back the President's seven-point anti-inflation program with law. Expect a Presidential announcement to prime an historic debate soon. Free enterprise may be the crux. If subsidies are set up for the farmer, labor and war-sick business—the Government would be taking a long step in the direction of bigger and better paternalism that would outlive the war and shape the pattern for post war casting.

—WSS—
Army, Navy and Maritime Commissions are taking steps to obtain refunds on excessive war profits. It is the intention to obtain profit refunds through review of financial statements, if possible. No set formula will be established. Some companies might be permitted a 7 or 8 percent profit, while others might be granted a higher percentage in order to maintain normal operations and set aside a cushion against post-war conversion needs.

—WSS—
Machinery for a Small War Plants Corporation is being assembled to accept prime contracts from war procurement agencies—but capacity to spread the 150 million dollar fund voted for the purpose by Congress is limited by raw material shortage and the expanding production of established all-out war material producers. WPB Chief Nelson has appointed Lou E. Holland of Kansas City (Chairman), James T. Howington of Louisville, W. S. Shipley of York, Pa., Albert M. Carter of Murphysboro, Ill., and Samuel A. Smith of Boston, as directors of the SWPC.

—WSS—
There is growing sentiment in Congress against enacting any permanent legislation overhauling the patent system until the National Patent Planning Commission has had an opportunity to complete its study and submit recommendations. Certain members believe that none of the bills sponsored by Chairman Bone of the Senate Patents Committee should be passed until the views of this commission are known—a point repeatedly made by the National Association of Manufacturers.

RICHES ARE MINE

You say I am poor with no silver or gold,
Why—I have treasures a hundred fold
Better than any that money can buy.
Mine is the dazzling blue of the sky...
The music of song-birds, lilting, free
The loveliest sweetest symphony.

THE WAR

A summary of the past week's war events reviewed by The National Editorial Association Defense Advisory Committee in cooperation with the Office of Government Reports.

FOR RELEASE AUGUST 3, 1942

Price Administrator Henderson announced that maximum gasoline prices in the rationed area of the 17 Eastern states and the District of Columbia will be reduced 2 1/2 cents a gallon beginning August 5. He also announced reduction of 0.9 cents for kerosene, 1.1 cents on distillates and light heating oils, and 15 cents a barrel on residual fuel oils.

Mr. Henderson said the reductions were made possible under the recent agreement worked out by the Office of Price Administration, the Office of Petroleum Coordinator and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, whereby the Defense Supplies Corporation will absorb the extra transportation costs for moving petroleum into the Atlantic seaboard areas.

Commerce Secretary Jones reported the Defense Plant Corporation will finance a two-point program to convert existing steel dry-cargo barges into tank barges to transport oil, and to improve existing inland waterways. The Bureau of Mines estimated the national gasoline demand for July, August and September will be about 17 percent less than in the corresponding period last year, eliminating the necessity for a large winter accumulation of stocks.

President Roosevelt issued a statement that every user of fuel and eating oil on the East coast "should be realistically the fact that there can be no guarantee that he will get enough oil even to meet his minimum needs." Petroleum Coordinator asked all sellers of fuel and eating oils in the East to request their customers to convert oil burners to the use of coal or other available fuels. The Office of Solid Fuels Coordinator reported bituminous coal stocks in storage in the U. S. increased an estimated 5,850,000 tons in June, to a near all-time record. The Office said consumer backlogs, however, continued insufficient to provide adequate protection against possible shortages during the fall and winter.

The OPA established a wholesale selling price on milk and cream, sold in bottles or paper containers, at the distributor's highest March level. The action was taken to prevent a price "squeeze" on milk retailers by some milk distributors. The Office set a ceiling price of four cents a pound for waste kitchen fats now being sold by housewives in the salvage program, and a ceiling price of five cents a pound for the sale of the same fats from meat dealers to renderers.

Price Administrator Henderson established a 60-day temporary ceiling on wholesale and retail lamb prices, at the highest levels charged by each seller during the period July 27-31. The temporary ceiling on lamb prices, effective August 10, places every major meat item except poultry under Government price regulations. The OPA said Armour and Company, Swift and Company, and Wilson and Company, Inc., have agreed to submit for auditing the sales records of all their branch houses for the purpose of refunding to their customers (wholesalers and retailers) all charges made in excess of the maximum prices for beef and pork.

President Roosevelt told his press conference there are three reasons for the current meat shortage in the East and some mid-Western states: (1) it is the off season for beef; (2) People have a good deal more money with which to buy more and better cuts of meat. (3) This country has around 4,000,000 men under arms for whom meat supplies must be prepared months in advance. Mr. Roosevelt said the people will have to expect new shortages from time to time because that is part of the price of winning the war.

Farm Income
During the first half of 1942 cash income from farm marketings totaled $5,773 million compared with $4,012 million in the same period last year, the Agriculture Department reported. Income from crops was up 36 percent and income from livestock and livestock products was 48 percent greater. The Department said a record volume of marketings is expected in the latter half of 1942. Total cash income from farm marketings during 1942, including Government payments, probably will exceed $14,500 million, the report said.

Rationing
The outlook for obtaining sugar supplies from the Caribbean has "taken a turn for the worse" because of submarine warfare and the amount of shipping diverted to war purposes, the OPA said. The Office asked sugar refiners in Louisiana and Texas not to ship to sugar markets in Indiana, Illinois and Ohio until at least September 1 because of a shortage in their home states. OPA said these restrictions will have to be continued if receipts from Cuba and Puerto Rico are below expectations. Under rationing regulations persons owning more than one typewriter may dispose of their machines only to authorized dealers or to the Procurement Division of the Treasury, OPA said. The Office ruled all new adult bicycles are subject to rationing "even though they may have been disassembled or altered or the parts changed."

War Bond Purchases

July sales of war bonds totaled $900,900,000, second highest monthly amount on record and $250 million above June sales, Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said. The highest monthly total was that of January when the amount was $1,060 million. Mr. Morgenthau said the August quota has been placed at $815 million. "Because of seasonal variations in income distribution, it would not be practicable to establish monthly quotas at a uniform figure of $1,000,000,000," he said.

Transportation

The Office of Defense Transportation took over allocation of all new buses and froze all integral-type buses in the hands of manufacturers. Under the new plan, the ODT will grant permission to buy new buses only when the purchasers sign an agreement giving ODT authority to transfer the bus for use elsewhere if transportation difficulties develop. ODT Director Eastman asked Public Service Commission of the states to make a nation-wide survey of local rail and bus passenger services to eliminate duplications. War Production Chairman Nelson said the WPB is studying the proposal of shipbuilder Henry Kaiser to build 5,000 large cargo planes in converted shipyards. The Maritime Commission reported U. S. shippers broke all records in July as 71 new merchant vessels were put into service, making a total of 299 cargo vessels and tankers produced during the first seven months of this year.

The War Front

Lt. Gen. Stilwell's China headquarters reported U. S. airmen have broken the back of an elite force of Japanese bombers and fighters assembled for the purpose of driving them out of China. The climax was reached July 30, the communiqué said, when 17 Japanese bombers and new type zero fighters were shot down. Gen. MacArthur's Australian headquarters announced allied planes conducted raids on Japanese positions from Amboina Island in the Netherlands East Indies to Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons. The Navy announced the sinking of four United Nations merchant vessels by enemy submarines.

Trial of Nazi Saboteurs

The Supreme Court ruled that the charges preferred against the eight Nazi saboteurs allege an offense "which the President is authorized to order tried before a military commission," that the commission is lawfully constituted, and that the saboteurs are held in "lawful custody." The saboteurs were brought again before the military commission.

The Armed Forces

The President signed a bill creating the Women's Auxiliary Reserve in the Navy, which will be made up at first of 2,000 commissioned officers and about 10,000 enlisted members. He also signed a bill to permit the CAA to train airplane mechanics in its civilian pilot training centers. The Army has asked for training of 31,000 mechanics. Selective Service headquarters instructed SS Local Boards to induct during August some men classified in I-B with certain types of physical defects.

DEVINE NEWSLETS

The Devine News. LOCKER FREEZER PLANT GETS 75 NEW LOCKERS

For the past several months it had been impossible to get any new lockers for the Devine Locker-Freezer plant, and there were twenty or thirty orders on the waiting list; the factory was in the frozen group, on account of scarcity of metal.

A few days ago, Mr. Kern, the manager, received a letter from a man at Wills Point, to the effect that he had started to put in a 75-locker plant in that city, but had been drafted into the army and would have to give up the plant, offering to sell seventy-five new lockers to the Devine plant. Knowing our long standing need, Mr. Kern immediately got in touch with the board here and wired the man we would take the lockers. These lockers are enroute now from Wills Point, and more than 30 of these are spoken for. The Devine Locker Plant has been a success from the start; people thirty miles away and all over the country are renting and using the lockers and Mr. Kern is sure that it will take only a few days to dispose of the new lockers not spoken for.

SIMPLE THINGS I LOVE

The things that delight my very soul
Are the simple things in life;
The bull frog's croak by the old mill pond;
The rambler rose as it runs rife.

A brook, as it flows thru the meadow green;
Drowsy sheep under the big oak trees;
Bees, as they sip each hollyhock bloom;

The simple things I love, are these.

The morning glory, that opens wide
Its heavenly blue perfection;
The yellow rose, as it climbs along
With golden beauty in my direction.

I say they're simple, and they are to me;
Yet man can not invent
A frog, or a bee, or a yellow rose,
They're made by God, and heaven lent.

Now I can't forget, not even if I try,
The "moo" of a cow to her calf.
Here's only a few of the things I love.

I'm sure I've not mentioned half.

It's foolish, I guess, yet it is a delight
To lie on my tummy and drink
From the cool, clear brook that flows along
Then to roll on my back and think.

What do I think while I'm lying there?
Oh!—Of God and His blessings to me,
Of the frogs, the rose, the "moo" of the cow,
Just plain simple things like these.

THE SOUTHWIND IS WHISPERING

On the Southwind a whisper is ringing forever,
A tale here unfinished as on some far world begun;
Long, long is our road on this earth ending never,
Leading to a star that is sinless, nearer the sun.

In this June air is healing and cure for all losing,
A promise of regaining of all things of our needing;
An old way recovering: The path of first choosing—
This air is prescient with our hopes all succeeding.

Hollyhocks bloom again in a garden of my morning,
There a maid of the Southland lingers long and remembers
A trusting all unfinished with one summer's adorning:
Kept ever anew when glows one June's bright embers.

In fancy I walk again on the road of eternal regaining,
No bloom is unvalued that was worth the first seeding;
Not for soil starving is sent timely June raining—
Hollyhocks and the maid are for no lost empire pleading.

Long, long is our journey, oft by dust and chill retarded,
But never lost entirely that was all ours at the beginning.
However hard the way our first treasures are safe guarded,
Always down the road lies the prized goal for our winning.

LITERARY CLUB

The Literary Club of D'Hanis met Tuesday, July 21, at the home of Mrs. Quaid Martin. Mrs. Martin had

as her special guest Mrs. Louis Carle Jr.

Mrs. Woodrow Glascock gave a review on "A Tale of Two Cities" by Charles Dickens. This difficult tale was smoothly told and the stop-gaps in the story were so effectively bridged by Mrs. Glascock, that the listener did not lose contact with the mood of the characters through the various moves from one city to another and from one group of characters to another.

The "A Tale of Two Cities" is a story of France in bondage, a story of class consciousness, brutality, squalor, high pomp, and great valor. The most celebrated day in all France was born in this period for even now with France again bowing to a conqueror, Bastille Day is still celebrated wherever there are Free Frenchmen who love France.

If you want to read the story of a country laboring to bring forth freedom, read "A Tale of Two Cities" by Charles Dickens.

The hostess read a stirring article "You and I Are America."

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. M. L. Riley with Mrs. Frank Hartman as the reader for the day.

—Reporter.

Copper, Mica, and Lead Before and After Columbus

This is the way the mound builder looked a thousand years ago with his wealth when he lived at the King Mounds, an ancient buried city, Wickliffe, Kentucky.

By COL. FAIN WHITE KING,
Research Director of Archaeology of Kentucky

With every miner digging into the bowels of the earth after the precious war materials, copper, mica, and lead, one is prone to wonder if such feverish activity ever prevailed to such limits. Yes—we have records of the prehistoric Mound Builder accumulating meager quantities of these minerals over a life-long period by means of primitive mining and energetic trade and commerce, however in no vast quantities such as is produced today.

Michigan and the West produce ninety-five percent of the copper mined in this country today. The Mound Builder secured his copper from Michigan and the Isle Royale district. Above is shown the copper wealth as it looks today, as found in Kentucky, and the way the Mound Builder looked when he wore it a thousand years ago. This can be seen in colors in Mrs. Blanche Busey King's new book, Under Your Feet. Copper is used today in electrical appliances, telegraph, telephone, radio and airplanes. Every ship built requires quantities of copper. Copper will win the war, save it.

Prior to the present war India and foreign countries furnished most of our mica; today we are dependent upon North Carolina, Canada, Brazil, and a few scattered minor sources. The apparent consumption of sheet mica in the United States during 1940 exceeded all previous records, and much of it came from North Carolina. Long before Columbus discovered America the aboriginal peoples were mining mica in North Carolina using it for mirrors, ornaments, and shiny decorations. The WPA sent crews of workmen to these old primitive diggings and men were able to make about two dollars a day taking mica from these very same workings that the primitive workman had discovered and used about a thousand years ago.

Mica is a non-conductor of electricity and heat; it is used in condensers, radios, and electrical equipment. Muscovite or mica can be split into thin sheets, punched, and stamped; it is also ground and used as covering or insulation for electrical wiring as well as for many varied uses in industry.

All of which is well and good in so far as sound advice goes—and may well be heeded!

The point is the inconsistency of laying so much stress on this point by advisors paid at the expense of the tax payers and having the same agency insisting on waste at another point.

In another exchange from the same state, where cotton is just now in bloom, we read this notice:

"AAA County Administrative Officer, * * *, states that regulations have been received recently to the effect that ONLY 10 DAYS WILL BE GIVEN FOR ANY EXCESS COTTON ACREAGE ON ANY FARM TO BE DESTROYED. Therefore, all farmers receiving a registered letter are urged to immediately destroy the excess cotton acreage and notify the county office at once."

If there could ever have been any justification for such wanton waste as this order implies there is certainly none at this time with the greater part of the world engaged in the work of destruction—war.

Aside from the waste of seed in planting these acres; loss of time in preparing the soil, planting and cultivating the crop; loss of use of the land for a season; and loss of the fiber—so badly needed now for raiment that the same agencies are insisting on cutting garments skimpier—the loss of the seed is little short of criminal waste.

There is no better roughage for feeding livestock than the cake left from crushing the seed.

There is not a more useful vegetable oil or any more economically produced than cotton seed oil.

Then there is all the labor that would be employed in producing and processing the crop—processing it into food, feed and raiment so sorely needed—that is condemned to unproductive idleness.

These same agencies, too, have scarcely caught their breath from howling throughout the length and breadth of the land for an enormous increase in the production of peanuts for oil.

Why such strange inconsistency? Why this working at cross-purposes?

Why not abolish about ninety-nine per cent of these meddlesome, circle-chasing government agencies, take their sinecures away from their parasites, give said parasites each a gun instead and send them to the firing line—where they can really do something to win the war and cease their meddling with the farmers' private affairs?

These are not ordinary days. Business is not being carried on in the ordinary manner. There is little hope for past and present standards of value as we have known them.

But if the people can determine that above all else, after the war is won, they must maintain the right of a man to make his living free of domination by labor, business or government, we will have nothing to fear.

The best hope of this country lies in men and women who are aware of what we must save—not profits, not position, not social security—but the right to work for oneself in the light of freedom. Net earnings may disappear entirely under the stress of war, or under the stress of destructive political agitation. But that loss is minor compared with the loss of the rights of individuals to carry on individual enterprises. There can be no freedom in this country without free enterprise. Outside of winning the war, the biggest thing we have to fight to save is our right to do business as free agents.

Most of us will have less net earnings from now on, but that is of infinitely less importance than perpetuating our right to make earnings, no matter how small, as the result of our individual work and ingenuity.—Industrial News Review.

The founders of this country built a nation upon the belief that man is entitled to freedom, that he is capable of self-government, that his beliefs are between him and his God alone. Under this doctrine we have prospered until that prosperity has aroused the envy and covetousness of those who saw only the success and not the cause, who could not see that a man would work harder for himself than for a master. We, the inheritors of this house, have been negligent, indifferent, overconfident—and now we are faced with the necessity of fighting to the finish for our democratic way of life. If enough of us believe in Democracy black spots on its wings. These worms also attack many other garden crops, including all of the cabbage family and also lettuce, radishes and the like, and some varieties of flowers.

There is another variety of cabbage worm, called the cabbage looper (measuring worm). Each worm in time turns into a moth, which in turn lays eggs. The moth in this case is brownish or bronze color, and has a marking on each wing like a tiny figure eight. It usually flies in the evening about dusk.

When you see moths flying in your cabbage patch, be they white or brown, get out the sprayer. You won't kill the moths, but you will destroy the hatching worms. The worms will be tiny and that is the time to get them. Use 1 teaspoonful Black Leaf 40 per quart of water for worms.

There is not a more useful vegetable oil or any more economically produced than cotton seed oil.

Then there is all the labor that would be employed in producing and processing the crop—processing it into food, feed and raiment so sorely needed—that is condemned to unproductive idleness.

These same agencies, too, have scarcely caught their breath from howling throughout the length and breadth of the land for an enormous increase in the production of peanuts for oil.

Why such strange inconsistency? Why this working at cross-purposes?

Why not abolish about ninety-nine per cent of these meddlesome, circle-chasing government agencies, take their sinecures away from their parasites, give said parasites each a gun instead and send them to the firing line—where they can really do something to win the war and cease their meddling with the farmers' private affairs?

These are not ordinary days. Business is not being carried on in the ordinary manner. There is little hope for past and present standards of value as we have known them.

But if the people can determine that above all else, after the war is won, they must maintain the right of a man to make his living free of domination by labor, business or government, we will have nothing to fear.

The best hope of this country lies in men and women who are aware of what we must save—not profits, not position, not social security—but the right to work for oneself in the light of freedom. Net earnings may disappear entirely under the stress of war, or under the stress of destructive political agitation. But that loss is minor compared with the loss of the rights of individuals to carry on individual enterprises. There can be no freedom in this country without free enterprise. Outside of winning the war, the biggest thing we have to fight to save is our right to do business as free agents.

Most of us will have less net earnings from now on, but that is of infinitely less importance than perpetuating our right to make earnings, no matter how small, as the result of our individual work and ingenuity.—Industrial News Review.

The founders of this country built a nation upon the belief that man is entitled to freedom, that he is capable of self-government, that his beliefs are between him and his God alone. Under this doctrine we have prospered until that prosperity has aroused the envy and covetousness of those who saw only the success and not the cause, who could not see that a man would work harder for himself than for a master. We, the inheritors of this house, have been negligent, indifferent, overconfident—and now we are faced with the necessity of fighting to the finish for our democratic way of life. If enough of us believe in Democracy black spots on its wings. These worms also attack many other garden crops, including all of the cabbage family and also lettuce, radishes and the like, and some varieties of flowers.

There is another variety of cabbage worm, called the cabbage looper (measuring worm). Each worm in time turns into a moth, which in turn lays eggs. The moth in this case is brownish or bronze color, and has a marking on each wing like a tiny figure eight. It usually flies in the evening about dusk.

THE RAG MAN

A jingle, jangle of cowbells
Sounding nearer up the street
'Tis the fat and frowsy ragman
Upon his regular beat.
"Any rags? Bottles? Old Mem?"

He cries as he passes by,
Giving his bony horse a tap
Just to keep him stepping high
"Haf a cent a poun fer de yeah."

"Me gives yer good price fer
"Me honest, me good a rag man
"Me give every cent they want
"Ole iron? Yer got em? Tin fo
"Ole papers? Give good price dem."

Any ole clothes fer de rag man
"Ole rags anything, bottle, tin
"Nodding! Goo bye, giddap, go Cowbells ping, jangle, along
On the same old way, evry day
Peeling forth the same old song

OLD FRIENDS

(With apologies to Kipling)
I think that I shall never see
Friends that mean so much to me

Friends whose ears are eagerly
To hear my latest, mad request

Friends whom I see most any Altho I live so far away.

Friends that in my heart I love
Who never yet got in my hair

Friends on whose shoulders
I have lain,
That would drive you or me
Parodies like these strive

amends
But only God could pick such folk

ROMANCE WITH NATURE

I saw a band of Gypsies one day
They beckoned unto me
breeze so gay and bold
To dance with them a wily rold
I was enraptured by their swaying russet-gold.

I returned by November's
waning moon
To hear the ghost brown
crackle and hiss
For the Gypsies were now only
ists, gray old trees;
That welcomed the threat of
frost-white kiss

COMFORT

Feed my sheep
He called to me
And I awoke from sleep
Feed my sheep
And I forgot to be
As were the sheep
Alone and hungry.
